Leadership and Service

On Monday morning of this week, the College conducted a very important assembly which was attended by parents, staff and students and contained three very distinct yet complementary dimensions. The first was a Remembrance Day service which commemorated all of those who had made personal sacrifice towards ensuring the preservation of the values which we hold so dear. Strong student participation as readers, leading the National Anthem and playing the bagpipes were features of this event. The second aspect of the assembly involved the presentation of awards to Year 11 students in the areas of academics, music and sport. The number and diversity of these awards is a credit to the endeavour and diligence of the recipients. The assembly concluded with the presentation of our College Prefects for next year with each of them being presented with their badge and congratulated by their parents as part of the ceremony.

Although each of these activities may seem to be quite disparate by nature, they are actually strongly connected in two ways. The first is that they all acknowledge the value of service. Those who have served in conflicts around the world are remembered for the contribution they have provided in past years. Those students who received awards were acknowledged for the service they are currently providing at school, in their homes and throughout the community. Those students inducted as Prefects were commissioned to offer service throughout next year in their significant and privileged roles.

The second connection between these groups is that each assumes an understanding of the relationship between service and leadership. Anyone called to leadership must understand that this role is only fulfilling when it is undertaken with a view to serving others. I'm sure that most people have experienced leadership based upon self-aggrandisement or exercised in an authoritarian manner. Such leadership is rarely inspiring and never respected. The style of leadership which is acclaimed and should be apparent at our school was modelled for us by Jesus himself. Although we are unlikely to ever be called to such extremes of self-sacrifice, it is this representation of servant leadership to which we should aspire. As is often expressed at our College, it is only in serving others that we discover the truth about our own capacity for happiness.

At CBC Fremantle we acknowledge those who have served to preserve the lifestyle we enjoy, we applaud the selflessness inherent in the activity of our current students and we pray that our incoming Prefects may exhibit and enjoy leadership based upon serving others.

Exams

This week has seen the end of the external examinations for our graduating students. Although there have been many anecdotal reports of satisfaction with their performance (one student even telling me they were 'much easier than the school exams'), the actual results will not be known until just after Christmas. We continue to wish our young men every success in this regard.

Our Year 11 students have just commenced their exams and we similarly wish them well. As all of our students undertake exams in the coming weeks we hope that they are able to approach them with the confidence gained from sustained application to their studies and thorough preparation.

AEP: Robotics Club

The Robotics group concluded their projects for the term this week with presentations made to the boys for their commitment, enthusiasm and interest.

The challenge set for them this year was to design a robot and program the relevant software so that the robot could find, select and then pick up a soft drink can, 'carry' it and then set it down again. Sensors had to be programmed to be exact and the robots had to have arms strong enough to lift and carry the can.

Mr Hortense is most sincerely thanked for all the time he has spent guiding and encouraging the boys. The meetings are held on a Friday after school which is in itself an indication of the keen interest shown by Mr Hortense and this group of budding electronic and mechatronic engineers!

32°S Latitude

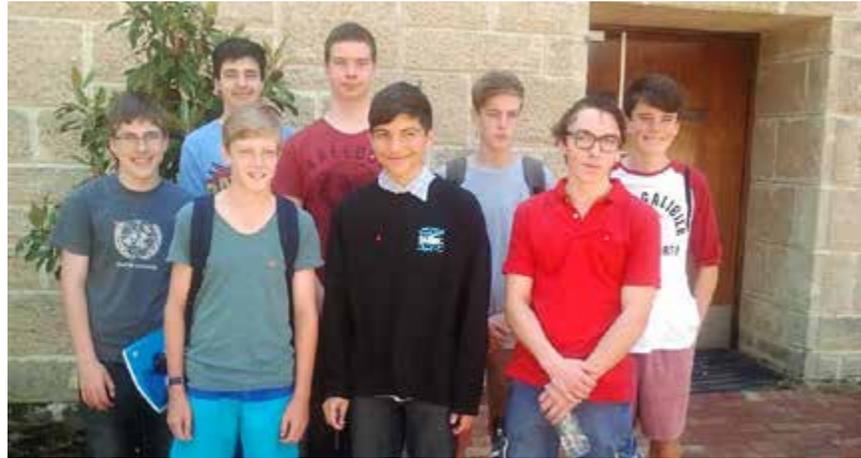

As part of the Year 10 Geography course, students completed field work as part of our studies.

The objective of the day was to observe the land use changes along or close to the line of 32°S Latitude. Whilst on the trip we stopped at many places including the Mundaring Weir, Lesmurdie Falls, Curtin University, UWA and Cottesloe to complete worksheets where we recognised the natural and human features present in the area.

UWA Junior Maths Olympiad

On Saturday 2 November, Ms Schmidt and Mr Tognolini took eight of our talented Year 9 mathematicians to represent CBC Fremantle at the UWA Junior Maths Olympiad 2013 (WAJO).

It was a very busy event with more than 400 students competing from schools all over the state. Being held on a Saturday, the boys showed great commitment to the school.

The boys who attended were:

- Ryan Pace
- Alex Natale

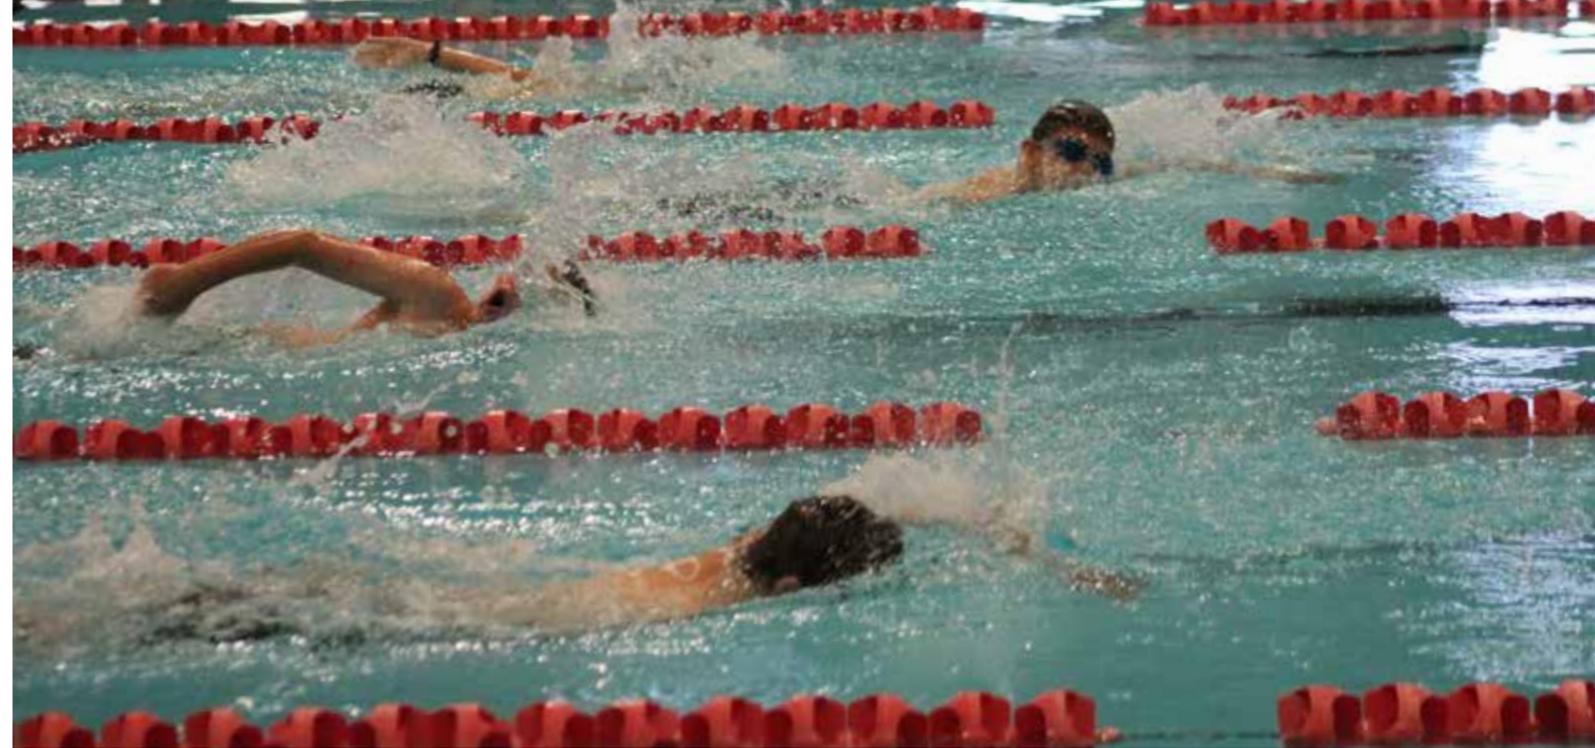

- Gianni Rifici
- Emmanuel Terzoudis-Lumsden
- Nathan Rowe
- Keane Bourke
- Bevan Grant
- Riley Faulds

The event started with an individual competition paper of 10 questions, which lasted 100 minutes. After a short break, the boys were placed in teams of four and completed another paper that lasted 60 minutes.

The boys were treated to lunch afterwards and were shown around the university. Thanks to Ms Schmidt for her help.

Congratulations to the boys for their outstanding contributions and efforts.

Celebrated by Archbishop Timothy Costelloe SDB, in the presence of his Grace the Papal Nuncio.

The Marian Novena is dedicated to the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The overall theme invites everyone to journey with Mary towards her Son, directed by Scripture. The Novena will culminate with the Mass of Solemnity of Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary in the presence of the Papal Nuncio on 9 December.

As the Novena coincides with Advent, the time spent in Holy Hour is a wonderful opportunity for personal preparation for the great feast of the Incarnation of our Lord Jesus.
